Denman’s refuse collection contract goes to tender

The Denman Island Residents’ Association is seeking bids for residential and commercial refuse collection on the island.

REPORT — FACTS AND CITATIONS ONLY

THE DENMAN FIRESTARTER

The Denman Island Residents’ Association has invited sealed tenders for residential and commercial refuse collection on Denman Island, with bids due by 5 p.m. PDT on Friday, October 12.¹ The notice says tender documents are available from Robert French, the association’s vice-president, by phone, email or mail.¹ The association says it is not responsible for bidders’ preparation costs and that the lowest bid will not necessarily be accepted.¹

Letters differ over farming rules and cannabis in Farm Plan project

Two Denman Island writers raised opposing concerns about proposed changes connected to the Farm Plan Implementation Project.

THE DENMAN FIRESTARTER

A disagreement over proposed farming rules and cannabis regulation appears in the records of a Denman Island Local Trust Committee meeting and a community letter printed in this week’s Grapevine.¹

At the committee’s August 2 community information meeting, members of the public raised concerns about including cannabis production in the definition of “intensive agriculture” and suggested addressing cannabis separately.²

In a letter listed in the Grapevine contents as “Denman Green Answers the Questions,” Anthony Gregson wrote about the subject. The newsletter’s contents do not provide the letter’s text, and the minutes included here do not record what Gregson wrote.¹²

The August 2 minutes say the meeting was held to gather community comments on proposed bylaw amendments and that community input was being sought.²
