Denman recreation-space project seeks more funding

A covered space planned beside the Community Hall is in a phase of seeking additional funding, design decisions and a contractor, DICES says.

REPORT — FACTS AND CITATIONS ONLY

THE DENMAN FIRESTARTER

A project to build a covered recreation space on the concrete pad beside Denman Island Community Hall has secured partial funding and is applying for additional funding, according to a report by DICES Community Info in this week’s Grapevine.¹

The report says the open-sided space is intended for activities out of the rain and for scheduled activities and free play, including sports, children’s programs, cultural events and markets.¹

DICES initiated the project in June 2020 after public buildings on Denman closed amid COVID-19 restrictions, and leased the pad from DIRCS, the report says.¹

The project committee says it will share more information about the design as the project progresses.¹
